

EBAY

Ebay always collects personal data when one..

- uses their services
- creates a new eBay account
- provides them with information via a web form
- adds or updates information in your eBay account
- participates in online community discussions or otherwise interact with ebay

Ebay also collects personal data from other sources (such as other eBay Inc. corporate family members, credit agencies or bureaus, and data providers).

Following data is collected:

Personal data like: address, name, age, gender, country of birth, financial information, employment status, interests and preferences, family status, location data, shipping, billing, form of payment, credit card and account numbers (!!), etc...

Purposes of data collection:

- Ebay processes personal data to provide and improve their Services
- For a personalized user experience on this website, to contact you about your eBay account and our Services
- To be able to send personalized advertising and marketing communications
- Ebay also shares the collected data with third parties, including service providers acting on our behalf, for these purposes. I
- Provision of their payment services in accordance with the Payments Terms of Use.

Personal data is shared with third parties:

- Other eBay users
- eBay Inc. corporate family members
- External service providers, authentication partners, physical storage service partners, and shipping companies (such as DHL, UPS, etc.)
- Government agencies or public authorities (including customs and tax authorities)
- Payment service providers
- External operators of websites, applications, services and tools